

Kevin Miscia

2217 Wallace Street
Philadelphia, PA 19130
(484) 432-5479

kmiscia@gmail.com
www.miscia.net

Seeking a software engineering position in an agile and growing company. Multiple responsibilities and opportunity to share experience at all levels a strong plus.

Technical Summary

- 12 years of OO programming and full stack web development using Ruby, Java, and C# and many of their corresponding frameworks including Rails, .NET, FuseBox and Struts.
- Relational database design including SQL with MySQL and Postgres.
- Client side programming with jQuery and HTML/CSS.
- Server provisioning with Chef.
- Linux development and production environments, including shell tools and scripting.
- Virtual Machine experience with both Amazon EC2 and homegrown KVM/QEMU/LibVirt based solutions.
- Version control using Git and SVN.
- Strong interpersonal communication and written skills with both technical and non-technical team members.

Professional Experience

Senior Software Engineer

Apr 2013 - Present

Software Engineer

Mar 2011 - Apr 2013

TelVue, Mount Laurel, NJ

Full stack Ruby on Rails developer for a broadcast delivery and services company. Responsibilities across all levels development, both technical and customer facing. Worked successfully on large scale applications independently, as well as leading a small group of developers.

- Led development team for a mature, web-based, broadcast programming and content management platform. Successfully delivered 5 on-time releases expanding product functionality.
- Sole web developer for successfully launched new product intended for the ad-insert industry.
- Primary development and project manager for companies largest cable industry customer.
- Currently member of a senior team of developers working on the companies flagship cloud broadcast channel management application.

Web Developer

Jul 2007 - Mar 2011

WebLinc LLC, Philadelphia, PA

Full stack Rails, .NET and ColdFusion developer for a Philadelphia based web e-commerce company. Responsible for the design and implementation of user defined customizations to companies proprietary content management and e-commerce platform.

- Developed and maintained high-column websites for national brand names with million dollar web revenues
- Tasked with the development of complex and concurrent projects under aggressive timelines.

Software Developer

Jul 2005 - Jul 2007

Towers Perrin, Philadelphia, PA

Java developer for a global actuarial consulting firm. Work focused on the development and maintenance of a major pension valuation suite of applications. Responsibilities included implementation of user and government specified features, working as part of a technical team as well as actuaries and non-technical team members.

Education

Villanova University, Villanova, PA
BS in Computer Science, Minor in Business

2001 - 2005

Personal

Originally from South Windsor, Connecticut. In my free time, I can usually be found running the trails and roads of Philadelphia, messing around with tech stuff, reading, snowboarding and golfing.